The Australian Organic Market Report 2010

Make your survey a priority today!

URGENT

...is on its way

How many times have you been asked for up-to-date information on the Australian organic industry?

This year, certified organic operators nation-wide will receive a uniquely numbered survey. Survey responses will form the basis of the Australian Organic Market Report (AOMR) 2010 – Australia's only regular independent market research publication outlining details of growth, real value, strengths, challenges, and opportunities in every key sector of the domestic organic market.

Plan to grow your organic business

The AOMR provides industry with a valuable tool by providing data that can be used as a base for business planning, investment and industry support. For this reason, certified organic operators of all types and sizes are encouraged to make the completion and return of their survey a top priority in 2010.

"We are anticipating and encouraging even greater industry involvement in the 2010 report to ensure all of industry will be represented - from small primary growers who sell direct to consumers; to larger operators with a focus on export" - Alexandra Mitchell, Researcher

Who should be involved in the AOMR?

The AOMR covers every sector of the organic supply chain. If you're working in the certified organic industry as a producer, processor, allowed input manufacturer, retailer, wholesaler or contractor you should expect to receive an AOMR survey.

About the AOMR

The AOMR – commissioned by BFA with support from Horticulture Australia Limited (HAL) – is confirmed as a biennial project. Research is conducted independently by the University of New England (UNE) and rigorously cross-checked with industry. All information is provided anonymously and confidentially and individual operators are not identifiable in the final aggregate report.

If you are a certified organic operator and you haven't received an AOMR survey please contact UNE on the details below to request a copy to be mailed to you immediately. Operators having problems completing their survey can likewise contact UNE on the details below to work through questions via phone.
